Model Validation

Model Validation

It is possible to validate the input from the HTML form by using annotations in the model

Then the validation can be handled automatically by Spring MVC

The solution is to use annotations like @Size, @NotNull and @Min on the variables in the Model, and then annotate the Form Object as @Valid as the input argument to the @PostMapping Controller method

Let's do a demo and then the exercises!