Form Object

A Form Object is an object that is created in Java and is mirrored in the HTML form

The form in the HTML page is automatically initiated with the values from the Form Object

The Controller method handling the form request gets the Form Object as an input argument with all values allready set from the HTML form

Let's do a demo and then the exercises!